
Factsheet:

SSAGO for members of Girlguiding

Last updated: December 2020

Introduction

This fact sheet provides a brief introduction to what SSAGO can offer to members of Girlguiding. It has to be noted that being a member of SSAGO does not make you a member of Girlguiding automatically. If you wish to undertake awards or volunteering within Girlguiding you must join the organisation.

What can SSAGO offer to Girlguiding members?

1) Volunteering/award work

- SSAGO can act as the link between you and your local Guiding division which in turn will allow you to find volunteering opportunities.
- You may be able to be more easily able to meet other similar aged Guiders who want to undertake the top awards such as Queen's Guide and Gold Duke of Edinburgh.
- Most SSAGO clubs will have a dedicated member of the club committee who will deal with Guiding enquiries and may be best suited to point you in the right direction.

2) Girlguiding Inspire opportunities

- The SSAGO club you join will be full of like-minded people, and clubs should be able to offer information about training and international trips open to Senior Section within the area. To find out more information about Inspire opportunities in your university area, please visit:
